BOULANGER DID WELL

But the French Government Withstood His Charge.

A Limited Though Undoubted Victory for the Republic.

The General Himself Counted Out—Count Dillon Elected—Reballoting Necessary in Half the Districts.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Notwithstanding the fact that an election contest was proceeding, the streets of Paris early today presented a deserted aspect. Rain cleared the boulevards and kept people within doors. Country visitors to the exhibition left the city yesterday for their respective departments to participate in the elections, leaving the different sections of the exhibition less crowded than usual. Crowds of electors have thronged the mairies for the last two days, obtaining voting papers. It is therefore considered improbable that the prediction of a large falling-off in the vote will be fulfilled.

The voting began at 8 a.m. Around the electoral places the representatives of the different parties kept assiduous watch. There was no excitement or bustle anywhere. Telegrams from the provinces reported equal tranquility. After 3 o'clock the polling places were thronged, still perfect order prevailed. The crowds were good-humored, and there was no apparent tendency to disturbance. The authorities had taken elaborate precautions against riot, but there was no display of force in the streets.

Soldiers were kept in readiness in the barracks, and the police were massed under cover at various points, with instructions to remain inactive unless compelled to interfere.

The clergy of Montmarel offered prayers in Boulanger's favor.

There was a riot at Avignon. A crowd forced the doors of the building occupied by the Boulangist committee, burned the voting papers and set fire to the building. Thence the crowd went to a Boulangist club, broke the doors, wrecked the furniture and drove out the members.

In the Montmartre district there was a free display of placards representing Boulanger on horseback trampling upon the corpses of workmen and inscribed: "The murder of the communists."

Most of the foreign diplomatic representatives made it a point to be in Paris during the election, notable exceptions being the ambassadors of Germany and Italy. The boulevards were thronged until midnight.

There was much crying of "Down with Ferry."

There was great uproar at the offices of the Presse in Montmartre, where an announcement that Boulanger had won in Montmartre was displayed on a transparency. The news was received with mingled cheers and hoots by the rival contingents, and as a riot seemed imminent the police and mounted guards charged upon and dispersed the crowd. Several persons were arrested.

M. Flourens is elected in Embrun. The prefecture of the Seine has issued official figures. The result in Montmartre is as follows: Registered electors, 19,743; voters, 11,686; blank voting papers, 2,494. Boulanger received 5,880 votes. According to these figures a second ballot will be necessary in Montmartre. This result is probably accounted for by the number of blanks. It is admitted that the blanks in Montmartre were really given to Boulanger. The public considers the tactics unfair, and as only likely to create sympathy for the general.

OFFICIAL RETURNS.

Returns from 560 divisions show the election of 224 Republican and 159 Opposition members. In 177 divisions supplementary ballots will be necessary. The new chamber will probably comprise 369 Republicans and 201 members of the opposition. Among the prominent Republicans elected are M. M. Filliers, Ribot, Jules, Robhe, Granet, Deville, Deschanelle, Barbe, Sarrieno and Reinch. The opposition have elected M. M. DeCassagnac, LaLon, Fould, Hussman, Godette, Languinais and Count Albert DeMun. In 1 27 of the districts to be re-contested the result of the second ballot will probably be favorable to the Republicans, and in the remaining 39 opposition candidates are likely to be successful. This estimate is made by the Republicans themselves. The Republicans also rely upon their ability to secure ten colonial seats, and thus hold 354 seats in the new chamber. Everybody in official circles appears to believe that a Republican majority is assured, which, though not large, will be more compact and more homogeneous than the government majority in last chamber.

BARREN OF RESULTS.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The elections in Paris and its suburbs have been almost barren of results, there having been but five candidates elected for 42 seats contested. Of the successful candidates the Boulangists elected four and the republicans one. In the remaining 37 divisions supplementary ballots will be necessary. M. Thevenet, Minister of Justice, is elected. M. L. Constans, minister of the interior, and Yves Guyot, minister of public works, failed to obtain pluralities in their respective divisions and another ballot will be necessary, but their election is regarded as certain. The republicans are defeated in the constituencies contested on behalf of the government by L. M. Joubert, while M. M. Milleraud, Rassy Lockroy, P. Flouquet and Barrodet and the opposition candidates Andrieux, Laisant, Vergoin, Laur, De Suisine and Naquet will be compelled to submit to supplementary ballot. Count Dillon, Boulangist, is elected.

LATEST RETURNS.

Latest returns show the election of 219 Republicans and 156 Conservatives and Boulangists and the necessity for 170 supplementary ballots. The election of Count Dillon and M. M. Mackan and Freppel is confirmed.

GERMAN PRESS OPINION.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—The National Zeitung reports the result of the French elections as favorable to the Republic. The article is, however, couched in terms which indicate doubt as to the result of the re-ballot.

The Vossische Zeitung congratulates the Republic upon its limited though undoubted victory. The Tagblatt says that the results do not clear the situation. The position of the Republic, despite the Republican advantages, is still precarious.

BELIEF THAT BOULANGER WAS ELECTED.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The general belief in Paris is that General Boulanger was elected in Montmartre district yesterday, and counted out. The fact that his election by a good majority was at first conceded by the government representatives and that there was considerable delay in changing the announcement to one of defeat, gives color to the charges that are being freely made to the effect that the ballots were manipulated by government agents. The result of the election is considered as satisfactory for the government, as there was every reason to hope for. Four members of the ministry are re-elected, a substantial approval of the government's general policy.

PRESS COMMENTS.

The Temps says that the political complexion of the new chamber will be much the same as that of the old one. Many new men are returned, however, and a fresh element is added to parliamentary life. The republic ought to use its victory to give to its political action a consistency heretofore lacking.

Liberte says that there will be no such change in the balance of power in the chamber as would have any serious influence upon the future of the republic. The results of the elections produced a favorable impression on the bourse.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Death of a Journalist.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Col. Gouverneur Carr, a well-known member of the editorial staff of the New York Tribune, and formerly city editor of the Times, died suddenly to-day.

The Catholic Centennial.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The Catholic News received the following cablegram from its correspondent at Rome to-day: Right Rev. Mgr. O'Connell, rector of the American college, left yesterday for America. He brings an important papal letter regarding the centennial of the establishment of the Catholic hierarchy in the United States.

An Iowa Tragedy.

CARSON, Iowa, Sept. 23.—At six o'clock last evening, as James Tyler was passing the house of J. J. Bradshaw, he was shot at by Bradshaw. The shot did no damage, and Bradshaw immediately placed the revolver to his own forehead and fired, killing himself instantly. He leaves a wife and large family of small children in poor circumstances. He accused Tyler of undue intimacy with his wife and threatened to shoot both his wife and Tyler.

The New Minister to Hayti.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The state department has taken steps to prevent Frederick Douglas being subjected to any inconvenience in travelling on account of his color while on his way to assume his duties as minister of the United States to Hayti. The U. S. S. "Dispatch" will convey Mr. Douglas from Washington to Fortress Monroe, a distance of little more than 200 miles, and thence he will proceed to Hayti, as has been already stated, on the "Ossipee." Mr. Douglas, in an interview, said he might be subjected to some inconvenience while going to Fortress Monroe, atd the state department secured the "Dispatch" from the navy department to prevent such a possibility.

Commissioner of Pensions.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23.—A special from Hiawatha, Kansas, says: "Congressman E. N. Merill yesterday received a dispatch from John A. Anderson, his congressional colleague, to the effect that President Harrison desired him, Merrill, to consider a proposition looking to his appointment as commissioner of pensions. Merrill replied that he would not permit his named to be used in connection with the commissionership, and recommended that if the choice were to be made in Kansas it fall upon Capt. Henry Booth, department commander of Kansas G. A. R.

Mysterious Murder.

WICHITA, Kans., Sept. 23—George Lotham, a leading cattle man of the state, was found dead yesterday twenty-five miles northwest of here. The body was close to a hedge, well covered with grass. Latham was here last Monday, and left here for home late. He was known to have considerable money and a magnificent watch. The cash and time piece are missing. It is believed he was murdered.

A Brutal Murderer.

DETROIT, Sept. 23.—A special to the News from Montague, Mich., says: George Doella, for ten years night watchman at Montague Iron Works, left his work on Sunday morning slightly intoxicated, with the full purpose of killing his aged wife. She was not at home, so Doella thought his stepdaughter, Kate Klapf, aged 20, would do. He asked her to look down a well, and then struck her twice with an axe, but failed to seriously wound her. An alarm was raised and Marshall Clenger went to the house, where he found Doella hiding under the cellar stairs with a long double-edged knife in his hand. The quarters were small, and the marshal's revolver was knocked out of his hand. Then commenced a fierce struggle, during which Clinger was stabbed over the left eye and in three places on his head, and received a two-inch cut near the jugular vein. The marshal's eyes were filled with blood, but he at last choked his man into submission, and dragged him to jail. At 6 o'clock last evening, when the prisoner's supper was sent to him, he was found hanging by the neck from the cell bars, dead, having committed suicide.

The Coinage of Silver.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 23.—Resolutions were adopted by the Mining Exchange on Saturday directing that a committee be appointed, with power to employ legal counsel, for the purpose of testing the legality of the law restricting the coinage of silver. It is proposed to send a quantity of silver in charge of a committee to Philadelphia, and demand its coinage. If the demand is refused, an action will be brought against the officers of the mint for damages.

International Marine Conference.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — The Department of State is officially informed that Vice-Admiral Kaznakoff, chief inspector of marine artillery, has been appointed by the Russian government as its representative at the approaching international marine conference. The department has been officially notified that the following persons have been appointed to represent the Imperial German government at the Washington international marine conference, viz.: Dr. Siemen King, president of the supreme court of Hamburg; Capt. Kenang of the German navy; Mr. August Hegel, consul-general of Germany at New York City; privy councillor Dornor of the German navy; a captain on the retired list. Also, that Baron Herman Despaun, imperial and royal rear admiral, will represent Austro-Hungary in the conference.

A Great Stallion Race.

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The great stallion race for a stake of $10,000 was trotted to-day before 15,000 people. The weather was perfect, and the track was in the very best condition for fast time. Betting just before the race was $15 to $50 on Nelson, against Alcryon, and $15 to $16 against the field. Following is the summary of the race: Nelson, 1. 1. 2; Pilot Knox, 3. 4. 1: Alcryon, 2. 2. 5; Junemontt, 4. 3. 3; Granby, 5. 5. 4. Time: 2, 18½; 2, 17¼; 2, 18½.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Sunday Excursions in Ottawa to be Prohibited.

Arrival of a Cholera-Affected Vessel in the St. Lawrence.

The Postal Authorities Averse to Adopting the English Postal Order System in Canada.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—Representations have been made to the government to adopt the English postal order system in Canada, but the authorities are averse, owing to the inducement to theft which the system offers.

A vessel has arrived in the St. Lawrence from the Phillippine Islands with two cases of fatal cholera on the voyage. The quarantine authorities took prompt measures in the interest of the public health.

The Mayor has instructed the chief of police to prosecute parties running Sunday excursions.

Jugde Bole Congratulated Upon His Appointment.

Government Approves of New Rules for British Columbia Jails.

The Rumored Purchase of the Northwest Central Charter by the Northern Pacific Emphatically Denied.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 23.—Judge Bole, of New Westminster arrived here this morning. He received the news of his appointment while on the train, and was warmly congratulated. His judicial appointment will be gazetted on Saturday, Mr. Bole's seat in the legislature thereby becoming vacant.

The Government has approved the proposal of the British Columbia executive to apply to the jails of Victoria, Nanaimo, Kamloops and New Westminster the provisions of the law whereby a prisoner may earn a remission of his sentence for good conduct, or forfeit the same for subsequent breach of the regulations. The rules suggested have been agreed to.

Wallace Graham, J.P., of Halifax, has been appointed Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, vice James, deceased.

Senator Tellemow emphatically contradicts the report that the Great North West Central charter was really bought by the Northern Pacific. He says the purchasers are an English syndicate solely.

QUEBEC BURIES HER DEAD.

Public Funeral of Twenty-one Victims—Work at the Debris.

QUEBEC, Sept. 22.—The funeral of the victims of the recent land slide took place to-day. The ship laborers, about 5,000 strong, headed by Pres't Mahoney, led the procession. Then followed the police force, bearing costly flowers presented by the city council. Then came fifteen hearses containing the bodies of twenty-one victims.

The funeral service took place at St. Patrick's church. Father Hayden, assisted by Father Welch, celebrated divine service. After the services the procession proceeded to Woodfield cemetery, where the twenty-one bodies were deposited in vaults prior to final interment.

Some 200 men are actively working at the debris to-night, and more corpses are expected to be found shortly.

The anxiety and uneasiness in which the inhabitants of this city were plunged by the catastrophe has not yet subsided, nor will it until all traces of the wreckage have disappeared and the over-hanging walls are made secure.

THE ROAD TO THE ROCKIES,

Satisfactory Arrangements for the Construction of the Road Completed—Its Construction to the Pacific Coast a Mere Question of Time.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Winnipeg Free Press gives the following account of the sale of the Great Northwest Central Railway to a syndicate of British capitalists:

"The whole difficulty in connection with the construction of the Great Northwest Central Railway has at last been got over. Mr. Stephens, of Stephens & Co., solicitors of London, England; Mr. Greigson, also a solicitor of London, along with Mr. J. A. Code, London, and Dr. McMichael, of Toronto, all of whom represent the English capitalists, have made final arrangements with the Canadian shareholders, at a meeting here, for the construction of the entire road. The London representatives of the English capitalists who were sent here to see that everything was in accordance with the representations made by those who were floating the scheme, selected Dr. McMichael to lend them his assistance. It will be remembered that the late Mr. C. T. Bate, late ex-mayor of Ottawa, was sent by the Canadian directors to England to float the bonds some years ago. He failed to do so. Mr. W. A. Allan, of Ottawa, another shareholder, was afterwards sent and did not succeed. A little over a year ago Capt. Murray, of St. Catharines, another leading shareholder, was on a pleasure trip in the old country, and the Canadians cabled him to endeavor to arrange with capitalists for the building of the road. He succeeded in raising £2,000,000 sterling, providing that everything in connection with the subsidy, land grant, etc., were satisfactorily arranged. Some time ago, as noticed at the time in the Free Press, there was a difficulty in getting the Government to locate the lands, owing to the opposition of the Canadian Pacific. Later on this was disposed of satisfactory to both companies. These matters being got rid of, the English capitalists who agreed to construct the road in the first place, but who would not be bound down to any specified time, have to-day through their representatives made the final arrangements to do so. What work had already been done was executed by the Canadian shareholders. The English capitalists have not only arranged to take this over, but have also agreed to finish the first fifty miles from Brandon this fall, and next year to complete the road to Battleford. Mr. Charlebois, of Charlebois & Mallette, one of the Canadian directors, has resigned his position and has accepted the contract to carry out the work. Already some of the rails are in transit to Brandon and the balance for the first 50 miles have been shipped from London. The majority of the stock is now owned by the London capitalists and they will control the board absolutely, once it has been organized. The Ottawa men and others interested in this enterprise are naturally jubilant of at last having succeeded in completing arrangements to construct a railway which has had a rather peculiar history, but which will run through one of the most fertile belts in the whole Northwest. It is anticipated that satisfactory arrangements can be made with both the Northern Pacific and Canadian Pacific to give them running powers over the line. One of the representatives of the English capitalists informed your correspondent that it is contemplated to extend the road in the near future to the Peace River country.

DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRES

On Prince Edward Island—Much Valuable Property Destroyed.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 21. — The largest forest fires ever seen on Prince Edward Island raged west of Summerside on Thursday and Friday. The loss cannot be estimated. Three sawmills and a large number of dwellings and outbuildings were destroyed. Several people had narrow escapes from being burned. The rain which has fallen has partly subdued the flames, but people are fearful lest the wind will fan them into activity.

WILKIE COLLINS DEAD,

The Famous Novelist Passes Away at His Home in London.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Wilkie Collins, the famous novelist, is dead. William Wilkie Collins was the eldest son of the late William Collins, R. A., the well-known painter of rustic scenes. He was born in London, January, 1824. After having been educated at a private school and spending two years with his parents in Italy, he was articled for four years to a firm in the tea trade. Exchanging commerce for law, he was a student at Lincoln's Inn at the time of his father's death, and his earliest literary performance was an admirable biography of his father, with selections from his journal and correspondence, published in two volumes, 1848. From this time Mr. Collins devoted himself entirely to literature, and published successively "Antonina, or the Fall of Rome; a romance of the fifth century," 1850. In 1860 he wrote the "Woman in White," and the "New Magdalen" in 1873, and from that time on he became very popular as a novelist. He was a member of the Guild of Literature and Art and took a prominent part in the amateur performances which were got up for its benefit. Several of his most popular novels were dramatised and were as successful as plays as they were as works of fiction. Mr. Collins may be said to be the founder of the "sensational" school of novelists. He has had many imitators, but none of them attained so high a place in the literature of English-speaking nations as Wilkie Collins.

CARIBOO ENDORSES THE GOVERNMENT.

Full Text of the Resolutions Passed at the Public Meeting There.

As previously announced in our telegraphic columns, a largely attended meeting was held in the theatre at Barkerville on Wednesday the 11th inst. The chair was occupied by Mr. Innes, whilst Mr. A. Dods acted as secretary.

Hon. Mr. Theo. Davie being called upon, addressed the meeting for about three quarters of an hour, and at the conclusion of his speech the following resolutions were proposed and carried unanimously.

On motion of Dr. Watt, seconded by Neil Campbell:

"Resolved, That having heard with pleasure the address of the Hon. Theodore Davie, Attorney-General, we desire to express our cordial approval of the general policy of the Government in its management of Provincial affairs, but more especially would we emphasize our hearty appreciation of the impulse given by it to the development of the quartz mining interests of the district by the erection of the reduction works and otherwise.

"That we look forward with hopefulness to the benefits to be derived from the continued efficient operation of these works, and we trust that no reasonable expense or effort will be spared by the government to keep them in all respects thoroughly equipped for the treatment of ores by the most scientific modern methods and appliances.

"That we most enthusiastically approve of the policy of the government with regard to the Western Central Railway, the building of which we believe will be of inestimable benefit to the whole Cariboo district, and to the province at large.

"That we believe the main line of said railway may and ought to pass through the centre of the Cariboo mining district, touching at or near Quesnelle and Barkerville on its way to the Yellow Head Pass, and thence eastward to become part of a new transcontinental railway." Carried unanimously.

ARCH. DODS, Secretary.

On motion of Harry McDermott, seconded by Dr. Watt, "Resolved, that we desire to record our sense of the great public loss sustained by the province in the death of the late Hon. A. E. B. Davie, Attorney-General and Premier of British Columbia, a former resident and representative of, and a true friend to Cariboo.

That we further desire respectfully to convey to his bereaved widow and family our heartfelt sympathy with them in their great sorrow and affliction." Carried unanimously.

ARCHIBALD DODS, Secretary.

CARIBOO ASSIZES.

The court opened at Richfield on Monday, the 9th instant, Chief Justice Hon. Sir Matthew B. Begbie presiding.

Mr. Stone, the manager of the express company, was elected foreman of the grand jury.

Only one indictment was returned, viz., that against Isaac Doubrilo, for unlawful cutting. He was placed upon his trial and pleaded not guilty. A verdict of common assault was returned, and the prisoner was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

The Attorney-General prosecuted.

Another Strike of London Dock Laborers.

Piratical Moors Taught a Lesson by a Spanish Gunboat.

Balfour Says a Foundation Endowment for a University Has Never Been Contemplated.

Balfour's University Scheme.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Chief Secretary Balfour, in reply to a letter received from the Secretary of the Protestant Allionce, denouncing the scheme for a Catholic University in Dublin, writes: A foundation endowment of the university has never been contemplated, and in my opinion is not necessary. The public ought to suspend opinion on the plans of the Government till the plans of the Government are made known.

Again on strike.

LONDON, Sept. 23. — The stevedores employed on the East India dock have again gone out on strike. They claim that the companies are not engaging the old hands as they agreed to when the strike was settled.

The London Sugar Convention.

BERLIN, Sept. 23. — Count Van Munster, German ambassador to France, has been with Prince Bismarck since Friday. It is rumored that the Count wishes to resign owing to his age and ill health, but it is more likely that the two are discussing the situation in France. The government will soon notify England that Germany regards herself as bound by the stipulations of the London sugar convention unless the English parliament fails to ratify them, in which case Germany reserves the right of acting in her own interests.

Catholic Orders in Germany.

ROME, Sept. 23.—Cardinal Schiaffino is dead.

Death of a Cardinal.

MUNICH, Sept. 23.—The Catholic congress has demanded the re-admission of the religious orders to Germany. The congress is numerously attended.

Cardinal Manning Congratulated.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Pope has sent congratulations to Cardinal Manning for the success of the Cardinal's efforts in settling the dockers' strike.

The Moors Chastised.

MALAGA, Sept. 23.—It is reported that Riffians fired upon the Spanish gunboat Codrilo, which returned fire, destroying a number of Moorish houses. A later despatch says: "The Riffians fired upon a boat which the Codrilo had sent with a flag of truce. It was for this outrage that the gunboat fired upon the town. The Codrilo then returned to the island fortress, Alhuecimas.

A DRUNKEN FATHER.

He Tortures His Child by Pouring Scalding Water Over Its Body.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—One of the most revolting cases of cruelty to children, and at the same time worst example of drunkenness and depravity in the police records, was brought to light in this city to-day. Owen Hefferan, a hodcarrier, was arrested for assaulting his daughter Mary Jane, aged 13. Besides the father and mother there are three children in the family, Mary Jane, John, aged 7, and Julia, 11 months old. Hefferan had a leg broken several weeks ago while at his work and his employer continued his wages. The greater part of the money was spent in drink. Between 10 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. to-day the girl brought in 16 pints of mixed ale. During the afternoon Hefferan got ugly, and when his wife said something to him he struck her and blackened her eye. His daughter Mary Jane interfered and the ruffian seized her by the hair, dragged her across the room and threw her down in front of the stove. Holding her by one hand, with the other he seized a kettle full of boiling water and began to pour it on her body. The girl screamed, but her brutal father emptied every drop of the boiling water in the kettle upon her before he stopped. Her cries brought up other tenants, who, when they saw what the brute had done, called a policeman and had him arrested. The mother sat stupidly looking on at her daughter being scalded, never interfering to save her. The girl is so badly burned that her recovery is doubtful. The agent of the Children's society and two policemen had to break in the door to get possession of the remaining children. The mother was lying drunk on the floor in a mass of filth and rags, which served as a bed. The infant, sickly looking and suffering terribly from neglect, was being rocked in a broken cradle by the 7-year-old boy. This boy is an imbecile. He was taken in charge by the society and the infant was left with the mother for the night.

IN THE FAR NORTH.

Terrible Experience of Two Venturesome Foreigners.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20. — Count de Saineville and Mr. Everest, an English nobleman, who arrived here five or six months ago with the object of going further north than Lord Lonsdale, have been heard from, letters having been received written over two months ago, dated from Chippewayan.

They had a rough experience on Lake Habiska, and during a storm were driven on an extensive mud deposit. When the water receded the boats were left in the mud miles from open water, and through this they had to carry all their supplies and portage their boats.

When then they started, they intended pushing north to Point Barrow the most northern point of Alaska. They expected to reach Point Barrow by the middle of August. They have not yet reached there, and it is feared that harm has befallen them. It is likely that the Hudson's Bay company will send out a search party from Fort Chippowayan.

PACIFIC OCEAN TIMBER RAFTS.

A Company Incorporated to Ship Logs by the Joggins System.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—The Joggins Raft Company has been incorporated, to do a business in Canadian and American lumber on the Pacific coast. The capital is $300,000, with a reserve of double that amount. The rafts are to be built like the original Joggins raft conveyed from Nova Scotia to New York. They are to be cigar-shaped, and will contain 13,000,000 feet of lumber. A saving of freight of $2 per 1,000 feet will be effected. J. D. Spreckle & Co. and M. Donohue, of San Francisco, are the leading promoters.

A GOVERNMENT VICTORY.

The election in Lillooet has resulted in a signal victory for the Government. Mr. Smith polled, as near as possible, fifty per cent. more votes than the opposition candidate. Fifty per cent, it must be admitted, is a very handsome proportional majority in favor of the administration. Mr. Saul, we learn, is very far from being an unpopular man in the district. He is personally liked and respected, and if the Government had been at all unpopular he would have been a very strong candidate. It was the party rather than the man who was defeated at Lillooet. Mr. Semlin went to Mr. Saul's aid, but even he, able and ingenious as he is, could not prevail upon the electors so reject a supporter of the Government. Mr. Smith, without assistance from outside the district, was able to beat the best local man that could be found, assisted by one of the best speakers and most experienced politicians that the opposition can boast of in the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Smith has reason to be proud of his victory. We tender him our congratulations.

THE "CHEEKY IMPROVERS."

It is, it seems, a high crime and misdemeanor to criticise the work of the æsthetic Blair and his colaborer Heywood. Those who do so cannot, unfortunately, be hauled up before the Police Magistrate and punished by fine and imprisonment, but they can be gibbetted in the Times, denounced as "peevish," "senile" and "stupid," and called besides all manner of names. We were under the impression that the work was being done not for the delectation of Blair and Heywood, but for the satisfaction and convenience of the citizens of Victoria, and that it is they, and not Blair and Heywood, who will have to pay the bills. When the people for whom the work is done, and who must pay for the "improvement" express, as soon as they have the opportunity their opinion of the park alterations, they are politely called by the courteous organ of the corporation a pack of fools, and treated to any amount of abuse. This is not the way employers and paymasters are generally treated by their workpeople and servants. They are expected to be at least civil and to give in plain and courteous terms a reason for the course they have taken.

The worshippers of that improver on nature, Superintendent Blair, would have citizens of Victoria believe that there is something mysterious and wonderfully difficult in this business of laying out the park, and that it is the height of presumption in any of them who is not a trained landscape gardener, to find fault when he sees the ground cut up with roads and hears of trees being felled. But there is nothing about the matter which any man of ordinary intelligence cannot understand quite as well as Mr. Blair or even Mr. Heywood. The impropriety of cutting up the park with drives and of deforming Beacon hill by a roadway must strike every one who has the least idea of the uses for which the park is required. Every one knows that the roads do not enhance the beauty of the grounds. On the contrary, they greatly detract from their sightliness. They are necessary evils in an æsthetic sense even where they are most required. And nine-tenths of the frequenters of the Park know that the roads are not wanted for their convenience. They will simply be a nuisance and a cause of danger and annoyance to children and other visitors. Being neither convenient nor ornamental what, in the name of common sense, are the roads made for? To please the fancy of those high priests of good taste, Blair and Heywood? We would like to see one good reason for cutting down the trees. We have not seen or heard even a decent excuse for such an outrage. It is, as we have already said, pure, unmitigated vandalism. We are told that it is too late to undo what has been done. If the trees have not already fallen victims to the meretricious taste of Blair and Heywood, it is hoped that the energetic remonstrances of the citizens will prevent the perpetration of what appears to us to be the next thing to sacrilege.

Citizens everywhere are exclaiming against the injury done to Beacon Hill Park, and asking if something cannot be done to put a stop to it. Why not call a public meeting and allow the citizens to put in a formal protest against the vandalism of the improvers on Nature? It is a thousand pities to see the Park ruined without some attempt being made to put a stop to the miserable business.

NOT PRACTICAL.

The organ of the opposition's utterances on the relations which ought to exist between capital and labor are exceedingly oracular but they are by no means definite. These utterances when analysed are perfectly meaningless. It would have its readers believe that it sympathises with the wage-earners, but when we examine what it says to see what it proposes to do to help that class of the population, we find that it has not even the ghost of a suggestion to make. It speaks in a general and very vague way of what Government ought to do to prevent labor being cheap, but as far as anything practical is concerned, it might as well be expatiating on the condition of the working classes in the planet Jupiter.

This is the way of the ordinary agitator when he is on the hunt for votes. He does his best to make the workingman believe that he is ill-used and neglected, and that if he and those whom he supports, were once entrusted with the reins of government, they would improve his condition very materially. But when he is brought to the scratch and asked how the improvement is to be made, what measures he proposes to introduce to give the working men a higher rate of wages, he hums and haws, and twists and turns, and ends by roundly abusing the questioner. What can an intelligent working man find in such stuff as the following to give him any hope that the party which the Times supports and is trying to place in power, will do anything that will have the effect of raising his wages the one-tenth part of a cent a day?

"If," says our contemporary, "the Hon. Edgar Dewdney and THE COLONIST are opposed to republican institutions, if they are agreed that these are a failure and that nineteenth-twentieths of mankind must remain simple hewers of wood and drawers of water, must doff their hats to the Hon. Mr. Dewdney and THE COLONIST as they pass by, then cheap labor is sound. If, on the other hand, the Hon. Mr. Dewdney and THE COLONIST are agreed that republican institutions are not a failure, that their perpetuity is desirable, then cheap labor is a fallacious doctrine, and in its place Mr. Dewdney and THE COLONIST must substitute a policy which is calculated to elevate rather than depress the working classes."

What, we would like to know, has "republican institutions" to do with the question? Does our contemporary wish to lead its readers to believe that if the government of Canada were republican, or if the Dominion were annexed to the United States, that the labor question would be solved, and that men everywhere would get a fair day's wage for a fair day's work? Every intelligent working man knows that under republican institutions in the United States, in France, in Mexico and in South America labor troubles are as frequent, as bitter, and as difficult to settle as they are in British Columbia. In the United States, which is the model republic of the world, the complaints of the tyranny of capital are as loud and as general as they are in monarchial countries. We hear of great railway strikes there, of strikes of miners, of shoemakers, of cotton spinners and weavers, of cigar makers, of, in fact, the workers in all the great industries. Pitiful accounts reach us of the miseries of the victims of the sweating system in New York and other great American cities. Socialists in Chicago, as in Victoria, are profoundly disgusted with the present state of things, and it is not so long ago since some of the former tried to make the world as they would have it, through the instrumentality of their favorite reforming agent, dynamite. The advanced agitators of the Times' school in the United States have long ago despaired of effecting the reforms they advocate through republican institutions. They find that every form of government is opposed to their principles, so they have declared war against governments of all kinds.

Everywhere the majority of mankind must earn their bread by the sweat of their brows. This is considered by some "the primal curse." By others the necessity of labor is regarded as a blessing. But every good man, whether he lives under a monarchy or is a citizen of a republic, wishes to see the laborer enjoying his full share of the fruits of his toil. How can this be secured to him? This is the great problem of the age. Should laborer and employer be left to make the best bargain they can, or is Government to interfere to regulate the relations which shall exist between them? Is it possible for Government to make the workingmen's bargain for him, to regulate the amount of the wages he is to receive and the number of hours he shall work? Would workingmen submit to such interference on the part of Government; and would the different industries of the country live and thrive if Government undertook so large a share of their direction.

When our contemporary makes Government responsible for the dearness and the cheapness of labor it must advocate giving the Government the power to interfere in all contracts between employers and employes. Any one can see that if it is not invested with the power of making bargains between the employer and his workmen, it is folly to hold it accountable for the existence of "cheap labor." Does the Times hold that the Legislative Assembly or the Dominion Parliament should by statute prescribe what its manager should pay the compositors, pressmen and machinists of the establishment under his care? Does it maintain that Government shall regulate the remuneration to be given to editors, reporters, proof-readers, in fact everyone in every capacity connected with the Times newspaper? Does it consider that it is the function of the Government to dictate to every employer of labor in every part of the Dominion just how much he shall give to the hands he employes. Would he, in a word, make the Government the universal employer of labor, and the owners of factories, workshops, shipyards, ships, farms, mines, timber limits, etc., etc., merely its agents? To be consistent it must do this. If it would not invest the Government with such powers, then its attempts to saddle upon it the responsibility of labor being cheap in any country is the merest buncombe—what it is now the fashion to call "guff," manufactured and published to deceive thoughtless, unreflecting workingmen for the purpose of getting their votes.

The Times knows that governments with the very best intentions cannot regulate the price of labor. If every man whom the Times, and the other journals of its party, supports were returned to Parliament at the next election, the wages of workingmen would be determined on exactly the same principles as they are now. Their rise and fall would depend upon precisely the same conditions. The Government would not have the power to make them either higher or lower.

The policy of the present Government on the labor question is before the people. An exhaustive enquiry as to the condition of the working classes was instituted and completed, and no doubt that legislation based on the recommendations of the Commission, composed of workingmen and the friends of workingmen, will be introduced, but no one supposes that such legislation will take the shape of regulating the wages paid to workingmen and working women. The Government is to be judged by its policy on the labor question, and not by the opinions held, or supposed to be held, by Mr. Dewdney on the Chinese or any other question.

THE DOMINION DEBT.

A late statement in the Canada Gazette shows that the public debt of the Dominion is $288,137,591. It is made up as follows:—

Bonds Payable in England	$188,239,135
" " in Canada	15,733,456
Dominion Notes	15,426,280
Savings Banks	42,936,781
Trust Funds	7,132,956
Province Accounts	16,918,183
Miscellaneous Banking Accounts	1,729,497
Total	$288 137,591

This is a large debt certainly, but it must be remembered that it was nearly all incurred to promote the development of the Dominion both before and since confederation. We need hardly remind our readers that when the provinces of British America were united the confederation assumed their several public debts. These debts were, almost without exception, contracted for the construction of necessary public works. Before confederation, the isolated provinces did what their limited means permitted to make their resources available, so that, although the money expended did not bring in a direct return in money, it was most profitably invested.

The Dominion assumed in this way at its formation a debt of $77,500,000 made up as follows: The old Province of Canada, $62,500,000; Nova Scotia, $8,000,000; New Brunswick, $7,000,000.

Since that time other provincial debts have been assumed or allowed, making a total assumed debt of $109,430,184. From Confederation to the close of the fiscal year 1887-88 there was expended on Capital Account a total of $173,961,905, as follows: Allowed to the Provinces, $30,743,392; Canadian Pacific Railway, $61,812,884; miscellaneous public works, $39,239,991; Intercolonial Railway, $32,792,127; North-West Territories, $3,753,848; Dominion Lands, $2,858,777; Eastern Extension Railway, $1,286,552; Prince Edward Island Railway, $218,088; Short Line Railway, $209,357; Cape Breton Railway, 765,952; Oxford and New Glasgow, $280,932. Of the capital expenditure from Confederation to the close of the year 1887-88 the sum of $103,142,392 was expended on railways; $32,847,148 on canals; $12,539,261 on public buildings, and $15,861,053 on other public works. The value and importance of these public works to the Dominion cannot be over-estimated, connected as they are with the growth and development of the country. Canada has something to show for her debt.

NOOKSACK
W. T.,

Is situated in the centre of the Nooksack and Sumas valleys, and is surrounded by upwards of 125,000 acres of the finest hop lands on the Pacific Coast.

These valleys are alike noted for the quantity and excellence of their hop productions. In many instances fully 4,000 lbs. per acre have been raised, and Eastern consumers pronounce those hops as being fully equal to the world-renowned products of Bavaria.

Within a radius of six miles of the town there are 50,000 acres of choicest hop land capable of producing annually upwards of 75,000 tons, giving employment to 18,000 people, and selling for upwards of $24,000,000.

The above area is MUCH GREATER than the whole of the famous Puyallup and White River valleys combined, but is much less than one half the hop lands directly tributary to Nooksack.

The above figures are facts, and as such we challenge contradiction.

The town is situated at the head of navigation in the Nooksack River, and has an

INEXHAUSTIBLE WATER SUPPLY
For Manufacturing, Milling or other Industries.

The Bellingham Bay and British Columbia Railway connects at this point with the Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern; both lines are now under rapid construction and will be completed in the near future.

As the railway and shipping centre of the largest hop fields of the Pacific Coast, Nooksack presents very superior inducements to business men.

The present demand for buildings is very great, and to all purchasers who will improve their property by erecting good permanent buildings, we will GUARANTEE a rental equal to 20 per cent. on their whole investment.

To persons engaging in Milling, Manufacturing or other industries, very liberal inducements will be given. We can offer and desire only bona fide purchasers who intend to improve their property and assist us in making NOOKSACK the wealthiest and most attractive inland town in Washington Territory.

NO INDUCEMENTS TO MERE SPECULATORS,

Lots are all cleared and streets graded.

MEN AND CLOTHES.

A Bright Woman Writes About the Fussiness of the Male Sex.

A lady signing herself Kate True has taken "it up" for the women in the columns of the Detroit Free Press. Kate says: I attended a woman's meeting the other day where some of the representative women of Boston were assembled. The subject under discussion was "dress." After the ethical side of dress had been duly considered, and the decollete gowns frowned upon, one sweet-voiced sister arose and said: "Why could we not be sensible like men; they are never bothered about their clothes; a dress suit was always a dress suit?" I looked at the speaker curiously; she was in earnest: and then I remembered that she belonged to that estimable class called spinsters, and did not know any better. In all the ups and downs and ins and outs of this kaleidoscopic world I recall certain scenes in a household of men when dressing for a party. I remember, with certain nervous twinges, the demands for needle and thread; the utterances, not sweet, but strong, concerning a delinquent tailor; the angry twitchings given an innocent necktie, and the fearful denunciations of some far-away laundress.

"Men never bother about their clothes!" Saints and angels defend us! It takes a woman with a man attachment and a quartette of brothers to understand the true inwardness of the masculine toilet. When Tom Debutant has a suit fresh from the tailor's he is more finicky and fussy about it than any woman. If there is a faint suggestion of a wrinkle across the shoulders, back it goes, and is considered a "misfit." As to the pantaloons, have I not twisted my neck even worse than any photographer ever did to see if they were not a trifle too long, or too short, and didn't I consider them a little flush in the rear, or a little snug at the knees, or a trifle too springy at the bottom?

If men "do not bother about clothes," why were crazy quilts ever made to use up the superfluous neckties abandoned as out of style? As to cosmetics, Tom Debutant has ten to every one of his sister's, and perfumes are the delight of the masculine nostrils. Ask your druggist who buys them, and then ask every wife who uses them up for her. Only the other day a bright woman remarked concerning a popular physician that he was the "Ottar of Roses" in the morning, "German Cologne" at noon and "Horse" at night.

Go on in the innocence of your spinsterial heart, most learned maiden, but believe me, when I tell you, from the mountain top of experience, that for unadulterated fussiness, from the end of a waxed mustache to the toe of a pump, or the fractional section of a white cuff below a coat sleeve, the sex that swears "bothers" more about clothes than we poor sinners. In this respect they are "superior."

MAX O'RELL'S IDEAS.

Extracts from the Bright Frenchman's Book on Brother Jonathan.

If good style consists in not doing what the vulgar do, good style in America ought to consist for one thing in wearing no diamonds—unless democracy should demand the sign of equality. Diamonds are worn by the women of fashion, the tradesman's wife, shop girls, work girls, servants—all the womankind. If you see a shabbily dressed woman who has not a pair in her ears, you may take it for granted that she has put them in pawn. Naturally, in America, as elsewhere, all that sparkles is not diamonds.

There is a pronounced childish side to the character of all Americans. In less than a century they have stridden ahead of all the nations of the Old World; they are astonished at their own handiwork, and, like children with a splendid toy of their own manufacture in their hands, they say to you "Look, just look, is it not a beauty?" And indeed, the fact is that, for him that will look at it with unprejudiced eyes, the achievement is simply marvelous.

Should a minister indulge in unorthodox theories in the pulpit, the Eastern man will content himself with shaking his head and going to another church to perform his devotions the Sunday after. The Pennsylvanian will open a violent polemic in the newspapers of the locality. The Kansas man will wait for the minister at the church door and give him a sound thrashing.

American hospitality is princely. You are not often invited, even in houses where the daily menu is of the most appetizing, to go and share the family dinner. You are not invited to dine, a fete is got up for you. If this can not be arranged you may not be invited at all.

America suffers from this state of things. The country's genius, instead of consecrating all its time to the production of works which would tend to elevate the ideas and aspirations of the people, is obliged to think of money-making.

To the American woman the diamond is not an object of luxury, it is an object of prime necessity. An English old maid would do without her tea before an American woman would go without diamonds.

The well-bred American is to my mind a happy combination of the Frenchman and the Englishman, having less stiffness than the latter and more simplicity than the former.

The character of the American is English from the fact of view of its contrasts and contradictions, which are still more accentuated in him than of the Englishman.

This necessity for being rich is the reverse side of the moral in America, where, more than anywhere else, talent without money is a useless tool.

The American may be eccentric, or what you will, but he is never monotonous.

Victoria's First Hoop-Skirt.

The following anecdote is told to illustrate the readiness with which Parisian fashions are adopted, even by the most rigidly patriotic of Princesses. At the epoch of the arrival of Queen Victoria in Paris in 1856, on a visit to the Emperor and Empress, the latter had just brought hooped skirts into vogue. The Queen forthwith sent her a messenger to purchase one for her, and on her next approach before her Imperial host and hostess her skirts were expanded into the new and fashionable amplitude. But her Majesty had not comprehended the necessary methods of tying the tapes that held the hoops in place, and her crinoline presented an extraordinary and shapeless aspect. It was the Emperor himself who, with his own imperial hands, set the rebellious petticoats to rights, and gave his royal guest a lesson as to the proper method of donning the new-fashioned adjunct of feminine costume.

Keep Your Eye-Sight.

Dr. F. Park Lewis spoke recently, says the Buffalo Courier, upon weak eyes and near-sighted people. He stated that while people with near-sighted eyes might show no loss of sight for years, still near-sighted eyes should be treated with care. The best light for the eyes was sunlight. A good light must be strong, white and steady. The heat of artificial light was then considered. Sunlight has the least heat rays; electric light came next; kerosene and gas were last and so the worst for the eyes. He closed by stating that in reading the back should be to the light, the eyes should be shaded, and never be used when tired. One should not read with an uncertain light nor on the cars.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN.

To the Editor:—I strayed to Beacon Hill Park a day or two ago, and was astonished and chagrined to see the amount of destruction and reconstruction going on. Well, so much of the work of the former has been done, that it is little use complaining, because it would take as much as the cost thereof to put it to rights again, so the Corporation had better finish the portion so far progressed and put it in sightly condition, because it is very doubtful whether the public will ever vote money in the near future so blindly as they have hitherto done for this purpose. A very intelligent man engaged on the work gave his opinion that the twenty five thousand dollars voted was nothing like sufficient—not half enough—to carry out the plan, and that after it has been carried out, to keep the place and conservatory in decent order would require a very considerable annual outlay, in addition to fencing in the whole. So I got out of the dust and went to see the old, so-called, lake. Round about this were playing lovely children and nice-looking maids, keeping away from the dust, and, singularly enough, there were some young men there too, of course to get out of the dust, but throwing more dangerous dust into the pretty damsels' eyes. "Oh!" said one, this will be made a Garden of Eden soon, and just then a snake appeared! The fountain played and threw at least a couple of quarts of water per hour in a series of insignificant parabolic curves. The ground around damp and cold, gave the idea of croup for children, tears and nasal fountains for the maids. Close by was a post and black bear, who appeared to be continually considering his latter end and an eagle who seemed near it, thus affording, if taken in the right light, a religious lesson. Unlike the Garden of Eden, the animals were caged and the observers clothed, but when the lovely conservatory has been built, there will be no need of this incumbrances because fig trees and palms will grow in abundance—at least for those who live in this heaven. In the grounds around all the native trees and shrubs were to be planted, and that Heywood had collected a couple of thousand dollars to buy foreign hardy trees to make an avenue better than existed in Eden, where dusty roads did not bother, but where the inhabitants tripped along the well kept lawns, the animals being the mowers. So all the animals and vegetables of the world are to be placed on this Eden and a botanical, horticultural and zoological garden, with beer gardens and innocent dances in the moonlight or beneath the lulling light of some artificial lamps under umbrageous trees. Indeed, the park is to be no longer a park, but an ornamental garden or ground. Who is to pay the piper? The Devil of course!! Perhaps the corporation would not object to renting the Garden of Eden to some enterprising Yankee company and give it a license to establish a Monte Carlo upon condition that they kept grounds, trees, animals, conservatory and everything else in good order. Nothing to be charged for admission to the grounds; entrancing music to be played in the open; the fountains to be changed to regular geysers emitting tinted and scented waters; the trees to be studded with electric light stars of various hues, and an Eiffel tower placed on the summit of the hill—a new Beacon to direct travellers by sea or land. Palaces would rise in which various games of speculation would be carried on, and places might be provided where those who wished to commit suicide might do so decently without making a fuss about it. Crowds would flock to this paradise, tourists innumerable! Money be lavishly spent, and everything would be glorious. Stocks, speculative joint stock companies, smelters, and corners in corn markets, would pale before this enterprise. The rush would be not to the gold mines, but to the new Eldorado, Beacon Hill. Victoria would go up like a rocket; be as magnificent, and known far and wide; the railways and steamboats have more than they could do, and palace hotels arise spontaneously. In this garden the teacher could take his pupils and give them object lessons in natural history, whether of animals or the vegetable kingdom. The clergy being pressed, you see, could take their flocks and show them vice and the devil, and demonstrate by living specimens how man falls—he could point out to them how vice might be covered with the garb of virtue, and might take a chance at the rowlette table just, you know, to prove us first, second and thirdly; in fact, it would be the world's school where everything moral or vicious could be seen and studied objectively. Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard and Wesleyan colleges would be eclipsed, for Victoria would thus have her coveted university and attain without payment the position she demands—of being the seat of culture, not merely of Canada, but of the earth at large, and ideal morality could be compared by each individual.

By the means suggested, instead of the city having to pay a couple of hundred thousand dollars to make a tea garden, she would have not only this, but much more, without further taxation. This will suit her, and chime in well with her well-known extraordinary public spirit and enterprising nature. By all means let the corporation make the public park a Monaco and have a Monte Carlo palace, where all may speculate. With this addition the park would be perfection perfected.

MEPHISTOPHELES MOSSBACK.

COWICHAN LAKE NOTES.

The following guests were at the hotel on Friday: Mr. and Mrs. Kirkland, New York; Capt. and Mrs. Wardroper, Lieut. Breenher, R. N.; Mr. Carmody, Mr. Charles Green, Mr. J. C. Mackenzie, Mr. H. March.

Mr. Lomas and Mr. Duncan are returning from a trip to the west coast via Cowichan Lake. They report that there are thousands of acres of first class land in that direction, at a short distance from the Lake.

Capt. Wardroper is about to put a steam launch upon the lake immediately.

FAREWELL TO VICTORIA, 1889.

Kind friends in Victoria, the time is now nigh
When, sailing for England, I must bid you good bye;
But shall carry this feeling, you must not think me vain,
Next year you'll be pleased to see me again.

The beautiful clipper that I'm proud to command,
Four times has returned to this much favored land;
The "Titania" is now a true household word,
For she's tight, staunch and strong, and fleet as a bird.

Yet oft I'll remember the bright, happy hours
I have spent in your homes all embosomed with flowers;
For this is your rule, and it is no vain boast,
"To welcome the stranger who visits your coast."

In grandeur sublime, majestic and high,
Mount Baker uplifts its proud peak to the sky;
Whilst the mounts of Olympus, from Heaven's blue dome,
Keep watch o'er the Straits that front your sweet home.

Victoria, fair city! I predict that kind fate
Your childhood will change to a prime that is great;
Here's success to all those that in you now dwell,
Accept my best wishes, God speed you, farewell.

JAMES L DUNN,
Ship "Titania."

Esquimalt, Sept. 22nd, 1889.

Funeral of Mrs. Imbert.

The funeral of the late Mrs. A. Imbert took place yesterday from St. James' church, where services were conducted by Ven. Archdeacon Scriven. The pall bearers were: W. D. Aden, C. Lane, H. Cameron, W. Lambeth, J. P. Mathews and T. L. Irving.

Visiting His Constituency.

Hon. Mr. Robson left for Westminster this morning, and will be absent from the capital about eight or ten days, during which he will be present at the agricultural exhibitions to be held at Chilliwhack, Surrey, Delta and Westminster. Until the premier's return to Victoria his address will be Westminster.

Heart Disease the Cause.

On Sunday afternoon Dr. McNaughton Jones made an examination into the cause of the death of John Hardy, whose lifeless form was found stretched on the bed in his cabin on Saturday night. He was satisfied that heart disease was the cause of death, and his certificate to this effect rendered an inquest unnecessary. The body will be buried this afternoon.

The Michigan.

The steamer Michigan was beached on the sands on James Island at midnight Saturday, effected a few necessary repairs, and floated off at high tide at 1 p. m. on Sunday afternoon, when on the way from Westminster to Portland. The Michigan has a large load of salmon for Eastern cities, consisting of 18,000 cases—2,500 from this city, and 15,500 from Fraser River.

Not That Kind of a Man.

It is related that a few evenings ago one of the midshipmen on the warships stationed at Esquimalt was visiting at the residence of some friends in the city. The middy is quite youthful in years and appearance, and is rather pretty-looking. When leaving the house of his entertainer, the hostess attempted to kiss her little guest, when the midshipman drew himself away indignantly, exclaiming, "Excuse me, madam; I'm not that kind of a 'man!'"

The Tournament Dispute Settled.

The injunction to restrain Chief Rainey from paying over to the Astoria fire company the $1,000 as the first prize in the wet-test hose race, has been withdrawn by the Vancouver company. It was announced at Tacoma yesterday that the Vancouvers would challenge the Astorians to race, according to the wet-test race, for $4,000, in any city in British Columbia, Washington or Oregon. It is altogether probable that the next tournament will be held in Spokane Falls.

Cedar Hill.

On Thursday last a harvest thanksgiving service was held in St. Luke's church, Cedar Hill. The church was very tastefully decorated by Mr. and Misses Tolmie, Misses Peter, Misses King and others. The Rev. G. H. Marwood, R. N., preached a very practical and stirring sermon on Is. ix. 3. Among the visitors from town we noticed Mrs. Rhodes, Miss Woods, Rev. Mr. Harrison, Mrs. O'Brien and Mr. W. E. Fisher and others. The offertory amounting to $31.20 will be given towards the moving of the old mission room from its present site. The refreshments in the Sunday school were arranged in novel style, rather after continental fashion, and were done ample justice to. Those who kindly provided the tea and cake are cordially thanked. A very handsome gift of two chairs has been presented to the church by Miss Tolmie.

"Rosh Ha-Sho-Vo"

At sundown to-morrow will commence a new year, according to the Jewish calendar. Services in celebration will be held in the Synagogue here to-morrow night, as well as the two days following.

The Jewish year is either civil or ecclesiastical. The civil year commences in the month called Tishry, which generally falls in September; the first day of this month is called "Rosh, Ha Shono," New Year's Day, and this was accounted the first month in the year, till the Children of Israel departed out of Egypt, when God commanded Moses to call the seventh month the first month of the year according to Exodus, chap. 12, verse 2. "This month shall be unto you the beginning of months; it shall be the first month of the year to you," which is meant the ecclesiastical year, for it is generally acknowledged by the Jewish nation that on the first day of the month Tishri the world was created.

The ecclesiastical year begins in the month called Abio or Nisson, which falls generally about March, from this month the feasts and fasts are generally reckoned, from this month they also computed their kings' reign, so therefore on this day, the first of Tishry is the Jewish (Ecclesiastical) New Year, this day is also called (Yom, Ha, Zee, ko, roun) Day of Memorial, also (Yom Ha, din) Day of Judgment, it is also called the feast of trumpets, and is observed in accord with the following command of God (Numbers, chap. 29, verse 1st): And in the seventh month, on the first day of the month, ye shall have a holy convocation, ye shall do no servile work; it is a day of blowing the trumpets. On this day it is supposed that God judges the whole of the human family, and He records all good actions in the Great Book of Life. These days are the first of the ten-day of Repentance, and ends with the great days of Atonement. Every Israelite observes this festival, as also that of the day of Atonement. The Jew who is remiss is lax in religion the whole year, will observe these days of prayer and contrition, and as they are taught that on this day God created the world, so they also believe that He judges it, therefore they pray to God to renew them a good year. They therefore dispense charity and perform benevolent actions, make peace with their fellow-creatures and are enjoined to forgive those who have trespassed against them before they can be forgiven by the Deity.

More New Goods.

Four cases received yesterday at CAMERON'S Cash Clothing, 55 Johnson street. Suits, pants, underwear, overcoats, rubber goods, ties, etc., etc., which are offered at very low prices for cash.

Northward Bound.

The steamer Sardonyx sailed for the north yesterday afternoon with about 150 tons of general freight and the following passengers: John Richards, Capt. G. Odin for Fort Simpson; Mrs. Maynard for Fort Simpson; C. Harrison for Alert Bay; J. J. Driscoll, J. L. and O. L. Poudner for Skidegate.

The Shipping of Salmon.

Truth, published at Westminster, says: The custom authorities have rescinded the order which prevented the shipping of salmon in steamers belonging to United States ports. Hereafter the Michigan and Idaho will be allowed to take cargoes of this British Columbia product for transhipment at Portland.

A Beautiful Object.

On Saturday Messrs. S. L. Kelly & Son favored their friends with a beautiful sight at their ice works, Store street, a bouquet of natural flowers frozen in the centre of a pure, clear block of ice. In process of freezing not a petal of the blossoms was injured, and the flowers, seen through the clear ice, looked as fresh and as perfect as when first gathered.

The New R. C. Cathedral.

At a meeting of the congregation on Sunday, after High Mass, it was decided to erect the new cathedral on the plot of ground on the corner of Blanchard and View streets. The structure is to seat not less than 1,000 people, is to be built of island sandstone, trimmed with granite, at an estimated cost of $60,000. The selection of plans and style is left to Bishop Lemmens. Construction will be commenced early in spring.

A Crazy Organist.

Many years ago the organist of the original Christ church cathedral in this city was named Whittaker. He was a musician of great ability, and after leaving Victoria he went to San Francisco, where he has ever since been organist of Grace church. A few days ago he was arrested on a charge of lunacy. The Examiner says: "The room adjoining the commissioners' office was tenanted by a man whose kicks, screams and groans resounded all over the new city hall, and attracted a crowd from all parts of the building.

"William H. Whittaker was the man who made all the noise. Although nearly sixty years old it required the united strength of three men to hold him in check. He was for a number of years the organist of Grace church, and is a well-known character in this city. Although a man of ordinarily mild and pleasing disposition, he was one of the most violent patients that has appeared before the commission in a long time.

"His chief delusions are that he is immensely wealthy, having been given large amounts of property by people who became infatuated with his musical efforts, and that his body is charged with electricity, which he can discharge through his fingers with vital effect, at will.

"He claimed to have had $44,000 deposited with the Safe Deposit Company, and called at that institution recently demanding the sum. When refused he placed his hands on the guardian of the vaults and tried to kill him by the application of the latent electricity in his body.

"He was sent to the asylum at Napa."

LITTLE LOCALS.

Police Officer Hughes has tendered his resignation.

Two counter charges of threatening to kill will be heard in the provincial court this morning.

Mr. Harvey Coombes has been appointed receiver of the estate, effects and credits of the departed superintendent of provincial police—Mr. H. B. Roycraft.

The Rithet arrived at about 12:30 this morning from Westminster. Her freight consisted principally of cattle and sheep, there being about 60 of the latter.

It is rumored that an injunction is to be served upon the to prevent the carrying out of the park "improvement" work now being done at Beacon Hill.

A bar-room fight occurred yesterday afternoon in a saloon on Yates street, in which heavy blows were struck, and knives were finally drawn. Arrests will probably follow.

The News-Advertiser, speaking of the Tacoma tournament, says while the Vancouver team marched under the glorious old "Union Jack," the Victoria company displayed the "Stars and Stripes."

The sloop Whitecap Queen, owned by A. W. Scott, Moodyville, has been sold to W. T. Stewart, of Victoria. The Vancouver World says Mr. Stewart got a good bargain, the price paid being $225, as the boat has displayed remarkably fast sailing qualities.

In the Y.M.C.A. hall to-morrow evening a special reception and entertainment will be held, when reports will be received from the delegates to the Vancouver convention, and a good musical and literary programme will be provided as well.

HASTIE & LOCKHART, Government street, have in their window four pictures showing the Dumb Bell Drill as taught at the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium. This drill, acknowledged to be one of the finest, is taught in some of the largest gymnasiums in the world. The amateur gymnasium will re-open Sept. 2. *

MARINE.

JUST A SOCIABLE CHAT.

Very Little Business Transacted at Last Evening's Special Council Meeting.

A special meeting of the aldermanic board was held in the mayor's office last evening, Mayor Grant presiding and Ald. Harris and Styles alone being absent.

The first business of the evening was the consideration of the request of the Victoria District Telegraph Co. for the right to erect poles and string wires on the streets of the city. Only one objection was offered to the application, the council being a unit in opposing the introduction of more poles. After a long informal discussion the privileges asked for were promised the company, they to use poles already erected wherever practicable.

Messrs. Gilmore & McCandless' communication, stating that they intended taking action for damages caused their business by the delay in the completion of the Johnson street sewer, was read, and the clerk instructed to request Mr. McDonald, the contractor, to push the work with the greatest expedition possible.

The unsatisfactory state of Store street was also a subject for lengthy discussion. Considerable indignation was expressed at the condition in which the road had been left after the sewerage work had been completed.

Moved by Ald. Goodacre and McKillican, that Mr. John Teague prepare plans for the addition to the north-east corner of the city hall. As no notice had been given the motion was allowed to stand on the notice paper for Wednesday night.

ONE OPINION OF RUSKIN.

Having no particular business remaining to be disposed of the council soon drifted into the discussion of park "improvements" and "grumblers" thereat. Referring to the park question, Mayor Grant said that he wished to call the attention of the board to the fact that Ruskin,—John Ruskin he supposed it was meant,—had been quoted in an editorial in Sunday morning's COLONIST in support of a contention that the natural beauty of Beacon Hill park was being spoiled by the improvements now being made. Ruskin, he said, was a man who objected to railways, steamboats, and all modern improvements. It would be no wonder for him to object to the beautification of the park. In many of the large cities of America objections were often raised to devoting funds toward park improvement and beautifying. This had been the case in Chicago, Minneapolis and New York, where Mr. Blair had had important work of this kind; yet after his work was completed the people were in raptures over it. Continuing, Mayor Grant remarked that if "we want to stick right to nature we might as well ask the ladies to go around the streets clothed as Eve was in the Garden of Eden before ever the historical fig leaf was invented." If it was not desirable to go so far back, it might be said that the ladies were just as nice in the common wincey; they were just as warm as if clothed in silks or satins or sealskin sacques. Yet they don't look as pretty. The fixing up improved their good looks, although they very probably were just as nice to hug with the wincey on. He thought that in the park improvement question the old motto was very applicable that "fools and children should never be allowed to see half-finished work."

After devoting five or ten minutes more to favorable criticism of Mr. Blair's plans and to general conversation, the Council adjourned.

COURT OF REVISION.

The City Council Sits and Takes Many Appeals Into Consideration.

In pursuance of the Municipal Council Act, 1889, a meeting of the Court of Revision on the assessment roll for the year 1889 was held at the City Hall yesterday morning. Present, Mayor Grant, Aldermen Vigelius Wilson, Kelly, Goodacre, Harrison, McKillican, Coughlan and Harris.

The following appeals were considered and disposed of in the order named:—

Ashico, R. A., laid over.
Adams, D. T., unchanged.
Alliott, Mrs., unchanged.
Croasdaile, H. E., unchanged.
Barnard, F. S., unchanged.
Buckett, Wm., improvements reduced to $1,000.
Banfield, D., assessment to be (on the whole), $1,200.
Jeffery, Mrs. R., unchanged.
McKinly, Mrs. Mary, laid over till 24th.
Smith, Mrs., unchanged.
Wonnacott, Mrs., laid over till 24th.
Truran, Hannah, unchanged.
Bossi, G., improvements reduced by $300.
Blake, A., improvements reduced by $50.
Burgess, J. P., unchanged.
Charles, Wm., unchanged.
Carey, Mrs. J. W., improvements reduced by $175.
Creed, John, unchanged.
Chantrell, J. B., unchanged.
Crease, H. P. P., unchanged.
Dwyer, Jos., unchanged.
Doane, Mrs. and Miss, unchanged.
Clements, A., unchanged.
Fisher, J. G., unchanged.
Ford, T., unchanged.
Hall, R., reduction on improvements, $100.
Johnson, J., unchanged.
Jorand, H., unchanged.
Kaye, J., unchanged.
Lawrence, Mrs. and G. R., unchanged.
Lovell, J. B., reduction of $100.
Williams, R., unchanged.
Fitz Allen, J., laid over.

On motion of Ald. Harrison the Court adjourned to meet at 11 o'clock this morning, by which time they will have had opportunity to again go over the various properties in dispute.

CITY POLICE COURT.

(Before Hon. A. N. Richards, P. M.)

The usual full Monday morning dock awaited his Honor's arrival at the police court yesterday.

Charles Trotter, first on the list, was charged with being drunk, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

Thomas Lovell, charged with the same offence, wearily remarked "Guilty" and was disposed off in the orthodox manner.

TOO FOND OF ART.

Ah Sing was upon the information of Mr. W. McKeon charged with the larceny of a stereoscope and a large number of stereoscopic views. Mr. Walls appeared for the defence, and asked for an adjournment of the case. His honor remarked that the corporation was forced to pay the interpreter, and if the case was adjourned, two days' interpreting would have to be paid for instead of one. Mr. Walls thought that the city made enough out of fines to afford to pay the interpreter. In order to secure his point, the counsel said that he would pay the interpreter. The case was adjourned for one week, as Mr. Walls remarked that he was going out for a week's shooting. Prisoner was released on $200 bail.

A LARCENY CASE.

Alexander Rippert was charged by one Stamp, an Indian, with stealing $100. Sergeant Walker explained that the money had been given by the Indian to the captain of the Kate to take care of. The captain put it in a locker, which was broken open during the night and the cash stolen. Stamp claimed that he saw the prisoner break open the locker, but his story did not hold together very well. In the examination of Stamp, Officer Lindsay found a little difficulty in understanding the witness, and Dominion Officer Lewis was asked to try his hand.

"Who will pay this interpreter?" asked the sergeant.

"Oh, he is in court, and doing nothing," remarked his honor, "we'll make use of him."

Stamp's evidence was very much mixed, and the captain of the Kate next took the stand and detailed the circumstances of the case. After an hour or more had been wasted on the case it was remanded until to-day.

CHARGED WITH RAPE.

James Dudley, a 'longshoreman, was the last occupant of the dock to stand up. He was charged by Police Officer Hawton with having committed rape upon the person of Mrs. Alvia Prier, a woman of about 53 years of age.

The prisoner said that he had no lawyer, but wished to procure one before the trial began, and the case was accordingly remanded until Wednesday.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

THE WHEEL.

A Warwick racing bicycle weighing less than 20 lbs. was received yesterday by Mr. C. W. Miner, the agent of the manufacturers here. The name of the coming flyer is kept a profound secret, although the "dark horse" is said to be a future wonder.

A LONG SPIN.

Thos. Roe, chief of the Chicago bicyclists, started from Portland, Or., for Chicago on Saturday night, astride of his fifty-seven inch wheel. "I am going to make a bicycle record between Portland and Chicago that has never been beaten," he said. "I will make my wheel spin along the Santa Fe route. Others have taken the Central route, but, although the Santa Fe is miles longer, I expect to reach Chicago in fifty-two days, or seven days less time than best bicycle record thus far made."

WRESTLING.

QUIN WANTS ANOTHER MATCH.

W. H. Quinn, the wrestler, writes from Victoria to the Post-Intelligencer: "I see by a late issue of your paper that Matsada Sorakichi is again well and looking for a match with me. Now I will say in reply that I am as anxious for a go as he is. While he was sick I had nothing to say, but if he is well enough to wrestle I am willing to accommodate him. I will be in Seattle next week, when I will make a match on the following terms: Match to be for $1,000 or $2,500 a side, and Matsada to have his choice of the following styles: Graeco-Roman, straight best two falls out of three, a five-style match, me to give him two falls to start in, styles to be catch-as-catch-can, Graeco-Roman, collar-and-elbow, common style and side hold, or in a three style match, I will allow him one fall. Now, as Sorakichi is a world-renowned wrestler and champion, I think I am giving him a very fair offer. I am willing he should take all the time he wishes to get in proper condition, and hope he will give me the first chance of a match. I have but one clause more in this proposition, and that is that the match take place in private."

HERE AND THERE.

John Allen and E. H. Platt, who left New York May 14th for a trip across the continent on horseback, arrived at San Francisco on Sunday morning, having made the trip in 130 days, the actual riding being 117 days.

Messrs. C. W. Miner and W. McLean returned on Saturday from a week's shooting at Sooke harbor. Their game consisting of four dear, twenty brace of grouse, eight brace of duck and one seal.

A foot race has been arranged between Jack Love and Edward Bailey, two noted sprinters of Wellington, for 100 yards and $100 a side. The race to take place on the Comox road near Wellington on October 3rd.

The Victoria firemen expect to go to New Westminster on the 2nd of October to take part in the Royal City tournament. Several citizens are already suggesting the advisability of opening a fund to provide their expenses. Dry and wet tests and a speed race form the programme.

FOSTER'S BENEFIT.

The programme arranged for Prof. Foster's benefit on Friday night is a good one. The benefit will be given in Philharmonic Hall under the patronage of Mayor Grant. Music will be provided by "C" Battery band, and there will be boxing, wrestling, fencing, vocal and instrumental music, clog and Highland fling dancing. Among those to take part are Faulkner, Quinn, Conners and Dan Gallagher (wrestlers); Phillips, Conners, Le Roy, and Pauline (musical); Huckers and Shade (boxers).

INTERIOR NOTES.

(From the Inland Sentinel.

The past week has been exceptionally fine, and the weather enjoyed stands out in striking contrast with that of the previous week.

The Misses Richardson, of Victoria, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, and will remain at Kamloops for six weeks.

Hugh Ross, who has the government contract for sinking artesian wells, is now waiting for the machinery to arrive so that work can be commenced. The first test will be made at or near Ducks.

Budd Lyons, committed for trial on a charge of having, on the 3rd inst., at Spallumcheen, unlawfully and maliciously cut and wounded one James Carson by stabbing him in the shoulder with a knife, pleaded guilty to the charge and on Friday was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment with hard labor, by Hon. Mr. Justice Walkem.

The anniversary services in connection with the Methodist church, Kamloops, were held on Sunday, Rev. J. E. Starr, of Victoria, preaching morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Schenck left Kamloops for Japan on Saturday. At the last regular meeting of Tatnai Lodge No. 9, I.O.O.F., held on Monday evening last, Bro. F. M. Schenck, N.G., was presented with a handsome gold locket, on the face of which was neatly engraved the emblem of the order, and accompanying which was an address.
